MIYAMOTO, CHAIRMAN

1. Political Discipline

We will thoroughly investigate the Lockheed scandal. We are opposed to the resolution of the incident by the Miki administration and the LDP. We will put an end to the LDP politics of money, that continues even now. We will establish a government based on a reformist and democratic coalition that will make a searching inquiry into the interest alliance among politicians, bureaucrats, and big business. As immediate measures to prevent the recurrence of such scandals, we will 1) make the prohibition of corporate donations the first principle and limit contributions to individual donors, 2) prohibit "amakudari" by high government officials, 3) strengthen the Diet's capability to investigate the government, 4) establish a Diet appointed body to oversee administration, 5) regulate the high-handedness of large multinational corporations, and 6) ensure the public right to know by enacting a public information law. We also propose that the practice of using national expenses to facilitate negotiations between political parties be stopped.

2. Electoral System

Our parliamentary democracy lacks substance and we oppose the introduction of small election districts pushed for by the LDP dictatorship. By revising the public election law, we will strengthen the punishments for bribery, interest influence, exploitation of position, and other pernicious violations of election law. We will strengthen the regulations holding candidates jointly responsible for election law violations committed by their campaign managers or finance officers. We will correct the imbalances in the representation of the election districts for both the Lower and the Upper (the regional districts) Houses. We will ban involvement by the ministries and corporations in elections. We will ensure the freedom of speech, policy endorsement, and political activity. We will issue official reports in braille, distribute sign language translators at competitive interparty speech meetings, and improve the system of voting at home. We oppose the system of electing half of the regionally elected Diet members. We will realize the right to vote for 18 year olds, just as Great Britain, the U.S., France, Italy, and 60 other countries have already done and thus realize participation in government by all young people.

3. Domestic Affairs

We will change the large corporation oriented economic policy to one based on the people which will promote the democratic reconstruction of the economy. We will restrict price increases of items produced by large companies and hold down public utility charges. We will overcome the recession by strengthening unemployment and employment policies, by cutting taxes, fulfilling welfare, dissolving the uneasiness over livelihood with wage increases, and expanding purchasing power.

We will establish a uniform wage system and the fundamental right to strike. We will democratically reform the tax system and public finances. We will construct housing, maintain the living environment, and prevent pollution and disasters. We will strive to develop industry that is balanced among the nation's people by fostering the protection of small and medium sized businesses and the agricultural and fisheries industries, by reviving the machines industries, and by making industries nonpolluting. We support education that fosters fundamental scholastic ability, physical strength, and civic morals but does not push out children who are behind. We will overcome the decadence in culture. We will protect the freedom of artistic expression. We will realize the entrance of all students into high school by making it semi-compulsory. We will rid society of attitudes that give undue emphasis to academic backgrounds. We are oppose revising the Constitution. We will implement in its entirety the Articles of Peace and Democracy. We oppose the change for the worse of the Criminal Law Act, and we will protect democracy and the freedom of the people.

4. Diplomacy and Defense

We will put an end to our political dependency on the U.S. by abrogating the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty and by promoting an independent peace diplomacy that is nonaligned and neutral. We oppose the unification of the U.S., Japan, and "Korean" militaries. We will stop the military buildup of the Self-Defense Forces, including the suspicious introduction of the P3-Cs, and transfer money out of the military budget and use it to improve national life. We will abolish the Japan-U.S. Security Conference. We will enact into law the three non-nuclear principles. We will completely forbid nuclear weapons. We will conclude the peace treaty with China based on the Five Principles of Peace. By promptly concluding a peace treaty with the Soviet Union, we will work to settle the problem of returning Habomai, Shikotan, and the other Kurile Islands. We will restrict the indiscriminate fishing by Soviet ships off the coast of Hokkaido and Tohoku and establish at an early date a 12 mile territorial zone from our coasts. We will completely forbid the propping up of the Park administration dictatorship in Korea.

TAKEIRI, CHAIRMAN

1. Political Discipline

The Lockheed affair clearly shows the politically corrupt structure of the LDP administration. We will employ all our energy to establish clean politics and parliamentary democracy and will do the following: 1) revise the law regulating political funds (including the prohibition of corporate donations), 2) realize "moneyless" elections (such as by liberalizing political activity of political parties and expanding the public management of elections), 3) strengthen regulations dealing with corruption (such as lengthening the statute of limitations and expanding the
