MIYAMOTO, CHAIRMAN

1. Tax Increase

We are absolutely against heavy taxes on the people. We will tax big capital which currently receive reductions in and exemptions from taxes. The LDP is shelving its responsibility, and we plan to end plans for the 28 trillion tax increase over 5 years which will tax heavily the lower and middle level income levels and for the general consumption tax which will hurt the people and tiny, small, and medium sized businesses. We can secure new revenues of 2 trillion yen from making radical corrections in the terribly unfair tax system, which favors large capital and the wealthy, and 2 trillion yen by reducing nonessential expenses such as those to large corporations and the military.

In this way, family finances will not be squeezed, and we can reduce the issue of national bonds and make progress in financial reconstruction.

2. Inflation and Energy

We will stop the Ohira Cabinet's hands-off policy of not intervening in prices at the lowest level, and we will stop price gouging in kerosene and other petroleum products by invoking the oil supply rationalization law. We can stabilize oil prices if we strengthen the Anti-Monopoly Law and adopt such policies as controlling monopolistic prices by making costs public.

In order to prevent inflation, it is necessary to reduce the issuing of public bonds and revive the legal system and freeze large public fees. Preparations for the next generation of energy will be based on changing the current policy of reliance on the U.S. and ruining the coal industry. We will convert to an independent and comprehensive policy; we will curb the domination of the major oil companies, expand direct negotiations with the oil producing countries, utilize domestic sources of energy such as water and coal, completely review the safety priorities of the nuclear power program, and promote energy conservation industries. In order to realize this aim, we will nationalize the major energy industries and establish a comprehensive public corporation.

3. Correction of Political Corruption

The source of the aircraft scandal and the alliance between Japan and Korea lie in the financial influence, the war crimes, and the dependency on the U.S. of the long LDP administration. We will not permit the Ohira administration's "coverup of suspicions." It is absolutely necessary to conduct a searching inquiry into structural corruption and uncover the truth by strengthening the authority of the Diet to investigate the government, such as by summoning Kishi.

We will completely prohibit big business political contributions which have acted as a hotbed for money politics. We are opposed to the efforts to establish, on the pretext of establishing elections that do not require money, small elections districts. We will make it an obligation for individual Dietmen to make public their political funds and for Cabinet ministers and others to make public their assets. We will establish a watchdog agency to supervise administration and a committee to oversee industry, enact a public information law, and strengthen penal regulations regarding corruption by lengthening their statute of limitations.

4. Welfare and Expenditures

Instead of forcing a low level of welfare at high cost by having people pay half of their medical expenses by raising their insurance fees, we need to implement radical policies, such as regulating large pharmaceutical capital and reforming medical services so that they place importance on prevention and preserving health are necessary. To prepare for the coming aging society, we must radically change the financial and economic policies supporting welfare and establish comprehensive old age securities policies.

It is also necessary to reform the revenue system such as sharing insurance fees burdens 3 to 7 between laborers and employers, respectively.

5. Diplomacy and Defense

The view that the Soviet presents a threat has been deliberately exaggerated, primarily by the United States, to stage a vicious circle of arms buildup between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. It serves as a pretext to strengthen the military alliance with the U.S. The threat to Japan's security and to peace in Asia lies in the reactionary maneuverings of the the four allied countries of U.S., Japan, China, and Korea. We oppose the strengthening of the strategic setup in the alliance between the U.S. and Japan, which serves as the military pillar of the larger alliance, and we oppose the buildup of the Self-Defense Forces. We aim to abrogate the security treaty and to reduce and dissolve the Self-Defense Forces, which are unconstitutional and subordinate to the U.S.

6. Education

In order to abolish entrance into schools through the back door, the immediate solution lies in guaranteeing the authority of faculty councils, opening school accounts to public scrutiny and establishing self-governance involving faculty and students and other means to democratize the management of private universities. The key to getting rid of examination hell lies in ridding society of attitudes which emphasize academic backgrounds above real abilities and removing the differentials among universities, plus establishing more public and private high schools, reforming school districts with the participation of private high schools, increasing government aid to private education, expanding scholarships to students, and improving the entrance examination system including the common first round entrance examination.
