

Elsewhere, we shall eliminate the direct political actions of a minority that is planning revolution under the guise of the right of resistance.

JAPAN SOCIALIST PARTY (JSP) 52:63

1. Security and Okinawa

1) In accordance with the Constitution, we will abrogate the Japan-U.S. Security Treaty through diplomatic negotiations and get rid of military bases. As for automatic extension, we will oppose this through a resolutions, etc., to abrogate the Security Treaty. We will advance a peaceful foreign policy of positive neutrality, revoke nuclear weapons, and promote complete disarmament. We will realize, at the same time, a Japan-Soviet peace treaty and the reestablishment of Japan-China diplomatic relations, conclude treaties of friendship between Japan and the U.S., Japan and the Soviet Union, and Japan and China, and will establish a security system that does not rely on armaments. As for the Self-Defense Forces, we will reduce and disband [them] with the wide support of the people. 2) The U.S. rule over Okinawa is unconstitutional and we will demand immediate, unconditional and complete return along with complete non-nuclear withdrawal of bases and will develop Okinawa, not as a military base for domination of Asia, but as islands of peace. Following return, we will, in accordance with the will of the people of the prefecture, improve residents' welfare and promote peace industries and will remove economic domination by foreign and mainland capital.

2. Tax Cuts and the Cost of Living

1) We will not tax livelihood expenses and make up to 1.3 million yen per four-member household tax-free. The new establishment of deductions for rent and education expenses. Tax exemption for the side-job income of wives. A lightening of indirect taxes. A large-scale decrease of the resident tax and the implementation of the abolition of the individual enterprise tax. We will raise corporate tax rates and will completely abolish special tax measures. 2) We will give top priority to the stabilization of prices and will push for the halting of increases in public utility charges, hold down inflation through the planned utilization of funds, strengthen the foundation of the low productivity sectors, regulate monopoly price levels and strengthen the Fair Trade Commission, expand publicly run markets and simplify the distribution structure, regulate speculation in land, implement completely consumer administration, and so on.

3. The Universities

The Temporary Measures Law for Universities ignores the causes of the university problem and is an abnegation of university reform and a violation of self-government. We will eliminate the domination of and intervention in university affairs by the government, overcome feudalistic institutions within the universities and reform them as universities open to the nation's masses. The resolution of problems will, in all instances, be done through autonomous resolution by the universities themselves based on student participation. The foundation of reform will be to place university administration under the jurisdiction of university commissions, improve the various conditions of research and education, promote the correction of disparities among universities, and guarantee reschooling for adults through the establish lifetime education. We will eliminate violence-orientedness among students.

4. The Rice Crop

We will strongly maintain the food control system, strive to increase consumption through the establishment of a food stocking systems and the development of processing and storage technology, and will oppose compulsory fallowing of rice paddies at the sacrifice of farmers. We will end the liberalization of agricultural products and will realize agriculture that can be engaged in throughout the year around the pillars of rice, livestock, and fruit cultivation. For this purpose, we will draft a ten year plan for the reform of agriculture and promote agricultural reform that will nurture stable produce through national controls for major agricultural products modeled after that for rice, establish a price support system, create 3 million hectares of pasture and field at national expense, and will conduct on a large scale land infrastructure improvement projects for existing farmland.

5. Parliamentary Politics

1) We will cause the Diet to properly reflect the will of the people through the democratization of elections--in particular, elections that do not require a lot of money and the expansion of public management--which are the root of parliamentary democracy, and will strive to expand political participation by reforming the institutions for conducting hearings and submitting appeals and petitions, and by conducting elections that will reflect the voice of the people. 2) We will remove the one-party monopoly of Diet offices, will strive for the withdrawal of party membership by speakers and vice-speakers, will realize democratic procedures that will respect discussion to the greatest degree possible through joint responsibility of the various parties, and will thereby raise confidence in the Diet as the "supreme organ of national sovereignty" and expand political participation both in principle and in fact.

DEMOCRATIC SOCIALIST PARTY (DSP) 03:65

1. Security and Okinawa

We will endeavor to strengthen the United Nations and, with the aim of a step-by-step dissolution of the security system, will as part of this revise the Security Treaty next year to get rid of the bases and stationed troops of the U.S. military. Through this, we will get rid of the disorder over base pollution and the Security Treaty and will establish proper friendly relations between Japan and the U.S. At the same time, we will establish an autonomous defense system where one's country is defended oneself and will incorporate the Security Treaty as a supplement to it. As for Okinawa, we will endeavor to realize a "mainland-equivalent" return under which no discrimination whatsoever remains. In particular, we will channel full effort into the complete removal of nuclear weapons, the strict observation of prior consultation, and the removal of B-52's. In addition, in order to get rid of confusion at the time of return, we will strive for the development of the economy and the welfare
