

Defense Forces, including the suspicious introduction of the P3-Cs, and transfer money out of the military budget and use it to improve national life. We will abolish the Japan-U.S. Security Conference. We will enact into law the three non-nuclear principles. We will completely forbid nuclear weapons. We will conclude the peace treaty with China based on the Five Principles of Peace. By promptly concluding a peace treaty with the Soviet Union, we will work to settle the problem of returning Habomai, Shikotan, and the other Kurile Islands. We will restrict the indiscriminate fishing by Soviet ships off the coast of Hokkaido and Tohoku and establish at an early date a 12 mile territorial zone from our coasts. We will completely forbid the propping up of the Park administration dictatorship in Korea.

1. Political Discipline

The Lockheed affair clearly shows the politically corrupt structure of the LDP administration. We will employ all our energy to establish clean politics and parliamentary democracy and will do the following: 1) revise the law regulating political funds (including the prohibition of corporate donations), 2) realize "moneyless" elections (such as by liberalizing political activity of political parties and expanding the public management of elections), 3) strengthen regulations dealing with corruption (such as lengthening the statute of limitations and expanding the requisite organizations), 4) rationalize the activities of large corporations, 5) democratize Diet management and the strengthening of right to investigate the government, and 6) break up the administration conducted behind closed doors (such as disclosing to the public the assets of Cabinet ministers, making clear political procedures, disclosing administrative material to the public, and strengthening the regulations regarding "amakudari").

2. Electoral System

We respect the sovereignty of the people and place priority on the establishment and protection of parliamentary democracy that correctly reflects the will of the country. 1) We will correct imbalances in the representation of Lower House districts and Upper House regional districts, created by the differentials in the value of a vote. 2) We will strive to do the following: liberalize political activity and election campaigning and expand the public management of elections; strengthen punishments for bribery and strengthen regulations that hold candidates responsible for election law violations committed by their campaign managers and finance officers, as well as promptly trying those court cases; revise laws so that political donations by corporations are banned and restricted strictly to individuals; clean up of elections and democratize campaigns; and realize costless elections. 3) We staunchly oppose changes for the worse of the election system such as the plan to introduce small election districts that is being pushed by the LDP administration dictatorship.

3. Domestic Affairs

We will ensure social fairness by changing the LDP's structural predisposition towards the money influence, bribery, and corruption and its policy of giving priority to big business while neglecting the people. We will instead give priority to the national welfare and, make as the national political goal, the building of social welfare with vitality and worth. In order to do this, we will establish a minimum standard for housing, pensions, education, labor, medical care, and public aid to national welfare. And we will strive to improve the life of laborers, farmers and fisherman, small and medium sized business workers, old people, housewives, young people, consumers, and people of all classes, and in addition we will prepare standards to prevent pollution and disasters, the maintenance of living environment, and the building of a community worth living in. We will strive to seek a national consensus for the Komeito's "National Welfare Medium Term Plan," which states that we will realize the above measures, establish a welfare economic system that will ensure stable economic growth, get rid of unemployment and bankruptcies, and stabilize prices.

4. Diplomacy and Defense

We will protect the Peace Constitution and build peace in Japan and Asia through a policy of equidistance and neutrality. To this end, we will do the following: 1) abrogate the Japan-U.S.

Security Treaty through diplomatic negotiations and conclude a Japan-U.S. friendship and nonaggression treaty; 2) conclude at an early date a peace treaty with China by settling the problem over the anti-hegemony clause based on the principles of the joint communique; 3) realize the return of the Northern Islands and concluding a Japan-Soviet peace treaty; 4) advance Japan-Korea friendship; 5) expand economic and technological cooperation and cultural and people exchanges with developing, particularly Asian, countries; 6) check the government's fundamental defense provisions plan which intends to build up the military through the fourth five year defense plan; and 7) maintain the three non-nuclear principles and establish a nuclear free zone in Asia and the Pacific .

1. Political Discipline

The Lockheed affair was brought about by the corrupt politics of the LDP that spanned over the years. We aim to break up corrupt politics through the thorough investigation of the affair. In order to do this, we will make public the names of "gray" officials and thoroughly investigate the full story of the incident. At the same time, in order to prevent a recurrence of such incidents, we will work to set up a body of experts to oversee administration, make completely public the management of elections, and strengthen the punishments for corruption.
